JOB WORK.

Facilities for Plain and Fancy Job Printing equal to those of any establishment west of the Mississippi river.

At present all the advertisements in this paper and desiring them discontinued will please make it known at the business office, where they will be so ordered. If we are not told to do so we are responsible for advertisements continuing on the paper unless notice is so given.

No claims will be allowed against employes of the GAZETTE to offset any of our accounts.

All advertisements for the WEEKLY GAZETTE must be handed in not later than Tuesday noon.

Advertising agents are respectfully notified that we do not want any advertising from them.

P. K. SIEVE,
Manager of the GAZETTE.

The Denver World has confessedly the brightest editorial page in Denver. The established papers began by ignoring it, but in spite of them, the World seems to be read by the people. It appears now to be reaching a position where it can snub some of its older, but feebler, contemporaries.

We have received from Houghton, Mifflin and company a new portrait of Mr. Whittier, finished just as he completed his eightieth year. It represents him as he is, though he hardly looks over sixty. We are informed that this portrait is the most satisfactory to Mr Whittier's intimate friends that has ever been made, representing his features and characteristic expression with remarkable accuracy. Of all the literary men in America of this century, Mr. Whittier is, perhaps, the most popular. He is decidedly an exception to the rule that a prophet is without honor in his own country. This portrait is life size and is sold for a dollar, and we heartily recommend it to our readers.

The last consular report had some statistics which were of special interest to our wool men. The present depression in the wool market is attributed entirely to the changes made in our tariff, in 1883. The way it has been thought to affect the price of wool has been, first, in encouraging the importation of Australian and South American wools; and secondly, in permitting wools to enter at a lower classification than they should. These reports show that the depression cannot be because of the importation of Australian and South American wools. Consul Griffin reports that the direct wool importation from Australasia to the United States has been very small: that at the great wool sales, there were less than the usual number of American bidders, that the few who were present showed no disposition to buy for the American market. The only effect of the presence of the American buyers was to excite a little more competition between the continental buyers. The exports from the only ports of shipment, Melbourne and Sydney, were 13,128 bales for the year 1886-7. For the previous year, the shipments were 24,457 bales. The consul attributes the small purchase to the fact that considerable quantities of Australian wool, purchased the season previous, are still in New York and Boston. The consul at Buenos Ayres says that the exportation of wool to the United States is "annually becoming less. The cause of this is in great part, because our tariff, unintentionally, but very unjustly, discriminates against such wools from the Argentine Republic in favor of those from "Australasia and New Zealand." As the report from Australasia says that the exportations from there to the country are decreasing, the reason for the decreased exportation from South America is not correct. But it is a matter of indifference what the reason is. We know from these reports that we are buying less wool from both of these great markets, and this is what our wool men want.

Administration of the Public Forests.

Bills (similar in their provisions for the protection and administration of the forests on the public domain, have recently been introduced in the senate by Senator Hale, of Maine, and in the house by Representative S. V. White, of New York.

As the subject is one of deep and vital interest to the people of the state, we append hereto a synopsis of the proposed measure. Criticism upon these can be invited. Communications relative to the bill should be addressed to Hon. N. H. Egleston Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

DESIGNATION OF FOREST LANDS.

All tracts now owned or controlled by the United States and which may hereafter be owned or controlled by the United States and which are now or shall hereafter be devoted to forest uses, are, for the purposes of the act, declared to be public forest lands.

WITHDRAWAL OF FOREST LANDS FROM SALE.

The reservation of public lands containing actual forests or which may be valuable for such purposes, and the withdrawal of such lands from private entry, may be made by the president whenever the public lands are within any state or territory wherein any citizen or corporation is engaged in the business of manufacturing lumber, and whenever such lands are needed for the protection of the water supply of any city, town or village situated in the vicinity thereof, or whenever they are needed to protect navigation or the water flow of any river, or to furnish timber for the use of the people of the United States.

Any person, owner or occupier of any mining claim, or any officer, agent or employe of any railroad company, who shall wantonly injure or destroy any timber growing upon any public forest lands within the limits of any mining claim, or upon the right of way of any railroad company, or who shall cut down any timber growing upon such public forest lands within the limits of any mining claim, or upon the right of way of any railroad company, for the purpose of selling the same or of clearing such mining claim or right of way for cultivation, or for any purpose other than the development of such mining claim or the construction of such railroad, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than six months nor more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

Any person who shall set on fire any timber, brush or grass upon the public forest lands, or who shall fell any timber thereon, and shall neglect to extinguish the fire so set, or the fire caused by the felling of such timber, before the same shall have communicated to the timber, brush or grass of any other person, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

Any person who shall remove any timber, stone or other material from the public forest lands, without authority from the commissioner of forests, with intent to sell the same, or to use the same in manufacture or otherwise than upon the lands from which the same is removed, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

All persons who shall violate any of the provisions of this act, or who shall fail, neglect or refuse to comply with the rules and regulations prescribed by the commissioner of forests and approved by the secretary of the interior, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

All persons arresting or attempting to arrest any person charged with violating any of the provisions of this act, or any of the rules and regulations prescribed by the commissioner of forests and approved by the secretary of the interior, shall be entitled to receive from the person so arrested, upon conviction, the sum of $25 for each arrest made.

All persons employed in the execution of this act, or in the protection of the public forests, are hereby declared to be officers of the United States, and shall have power to make arrests for violations of the provisions of this act, or of the rules and regulations made in pursuance thereof, and to carry the arrested person before the nearest United States commissioner, judge or court for trial, and may summon to their assistance the posse comitatus or the military force of the United States

Frank S. Tyler of Denver, was in the city yesterday.

Alderman Sawyer returned from a visit to Denver yesterday.

Crowning of the Queen of Fame at the Congregational church tonight.

There will be a concert at the Fire Men's hall this evening at the city hall at half past seven o'clock.

There are a number of tramps in the city, who will be put to work on the streets as soon as they are arrested.

Mr. J. A. Mercer is going to Denver for repairs on the Longfellow Hall Reading at Tuesday. Yesterday's and Tuesday's papers were disposed of.

John Porter reports a load of mining ores in Colorado City during the past week, and more coming. He is also being in Bott's Mines.

Mr. Charles H. Cooke has on exhibition at The Night a very correct drawing for the new addition to which the improvement of parties intending to build.

The Gazette desires to return its obligations to Mr. [illegible] for very successful [illegible] Mr. Knight is among the most experienced carriers in the city.

City Marshal Hamilton advertises a reward of $50 for evidence which will convict the party or parties who committed the assault on Officer Williams Wednesday night.

One of the [illegible] yesterday stated positively that the contract with the electric light company for furnishing light for two years was $1,000 per annum, and was not much above the figures paid in Denver for the same quality of light. He said that the city was at present too small to support two plants, and that there would likely be no competition for several years. In Philadelphia, New York and other eastern cities, the price paid was nearly the same as that stated in the contract with the electric light company.

Mr. H. T. O'Brien has constructed a large and comfortable office in the south west corner of his mammoth harness establishment. The desk and railing are the work of Mr. S. E. Sessions, and the [illegible] by C. [illegible] & Co. Mr. O'Brien is still offering some desirable bargains in his extensive line of leather goods.

Yesterday the stores in charge of [illegible] from the Ashcroft Manufacturing company of Ashcroft, N. Y. will be placed in position on the electric light plant in the rooms of the next few days, and will prove of great benefit in protecting the city against [illegible] fire. It can be heard for several miles.

The El Paso fish [illegible] in Carpenter's hall in the rooms in the Carpenter block, Tuesday night, which about 150 persons were present. Music was furnished by Barnes' orchestra, and supper was served under the direction of Mr. Leonard Knight. Mr. William Clark provided excessive food decorations, which were admirably arranged under the direction of Mr. Frank T. Lent.

The following [illegible] will be rendered at the meeting of the Phoenix Literary society at the college chapel at 7:15 o'clock this evening:

Dean Hart of Denver will deliver the next lecture in the course for the benefit of the Free Reading room and library. The lecture will be on Monday evening, February 13, at 8 o'clock. Tickets may still be had for the seven remaining lectures at $1 at the Consolidated Book store and at the Reading room. Admission to any single lecture will be twenty-five cents, to be paid at the door.

A regular meeting of the board of trustees of the Deaf Mute and Blind institute was held yesterday at the institution. The trustees present were Messrs. Lawton, Bowman and Foster. The governor [illegible] to fill the vacancy caused by Capt. W. F. Wilder's resignation. The business before the board was of a purely routine character, and was completed yesterday afternoon. It was expected that Governor Adams would be present to inspect the institution but [illegible] to come.

No developments were made yesterday which would throw any light on the assault committed upon Officer Williams on Wednesday night. Yesterday the police made a thorough investigation of the alley in which the assault was committed and blood was found in several places. Mr. Williams' injuries were yesterday discovered to be of a more serious nature than was at first supposed, and his physician in the morning feared an attack of brain fever, but towards evening his symptoms were more favorable. A close examination of his injuries led his physician to the opinion that they had been inflicted by some blunt weapon.

Owing to the unpropitious character of the weather yesterday morning it was thought best to postpone the use of Mr. Stevens' livery, which had been tendered by him for the benefit of the new Congregational church. Mr. Stevens has kindly [illegible] to-morrow (Saturday) as the day for this purpose. Members of the congregation and all friends interested in the enterprise of the new church are urged upon that day to make a point to hire a team at Mr. Stevens' stable, as his proceeds for that day will all be devoted to the building fund. Parents are especially urged to order their carriages in advance, and those who take the morning are asked to come early so that they may return early and the horses be available in the afternoon.

Ethe Ellsler has found in "Woman Against Woman" in which she appears at the opera house Monday evening a play that by words of more power to lend higher than "Hazel Kirke" could, for it is stronger and more symmetrical than that drama. It contains the double requisite, heart interest and a deftly developed plot. The author [illegible] into the conscience, and [illegible] of the evils of the day [illegible] while the mysteries which is permeated with most intense interest. The play is strong in every [illegible] the same time and remedial with [illegible] is reflected by [illegible] natural comedy element. It would [illegible] nothing were [illegible] impersonation of Ethe Ellsler, the heroine of the play, than that [illegible] by Miss Ellsler.
